

CROP CONDITION IS BECOMING VERY SERIOUS

DUST STORM IS ALLY TO DROUGHT ACROSS PLAINS

Light Showers in Several Places Are Of Little Benefit

Chicago, May 10.—(AP)—In the wake of dust storms and record temperatures, showers cooled sections of a parched midwest—but the grain belt area on the whole was still in the grip of the drought today.

A light shower, sweeping into Chicago at midnight, drove down the temperature from a record-breaking 94 in the afternoon, and cooler weather was forecast for today for the entire midwest.

Local showers fell in almost every state in the midwest last night or early today, but they were insufficient to bring any appreciable relief—other than cooler weather.

View Is Gloomier

Agriculturists on the vast farming area between the Rockies and the Alleghenies expressed an even gloomier view of crop prospects.

Their wells and streams are going dry, their feed supplies are dwindling, their seed lies ungerminated in dusty soil, and new plagues of chinch bugs, grasshoppers, and other insect pests were gaining ground.

Des Moines, Ia., residents reported a shower of mud which came last night on the heels of a severe dust storm. High winds fanned the midwestern storms yesterday, stirring up thick clouds of dust and spreading timer fires in temperatures ranging up to 104 degrees.

Shower afforded only brief respite, as the general weather forecast for the midwest was for fair weather and moderate temperature Friday.

Proves AAA Failure

R. A. Trovatten, Minnesota Commissioner of Agriculture, Dairy and Food, asserted that the statement of Secretary Wallace that abnormal weather conditions may have a severe effect on 1934 wheat production is "an admission of failure on the part of the AAA."

The Weather Bureau offices at Springfield, Ill., and Des Moines, Iowa, issued pessimistic crop reports.

The Illinois report pointed out that while half the normal corn acreage was planted the soil was in many instances too dry or seed to germinate, and that meadows and pasture lands were drying up rapidly.

The Iowa report stated that pastures and hay for feed had been severely injured.

Chicago dairymen said a milk shortage may develop in July, although there was no danger at present of a famine. They declared feed costs were mounting and that pastures were entirely inadequate.

BODY OF CHILD AGED 4, FOUND IN A CISTERN

Waukegan Cops Mystified by Death of Youngster

Waukegan, Ill., May 10.—(AP)—Much mystified, police today found Paul Zagoras, Jr., 4 1/2-year-old son of a restaurant owner, drowned in eight feet of water in a sewerage cistern in front of the youngster's home. The heavy iron cover was in place.

The child had been missing since yesterday afternoon when his two-year-old brother, Hercules, came into the home and listed that he didn't know what had become of his brother.

Fearing the child had been kidnapped or was the victim of a murder, a search was begun immediately by the family and police.

Because it is impossible for a child of four to even lift, much less carefully replace, the heavy cover, police planned to round up the children in the neighborhood to see if the child accidentally fell in and his playmates in fear put the cover back.

Rouget de Lisle, French rovalist, wrote the "Marseillaise" only to hear it as the battle hymn of the opposing revolutionist army.

Chicago, May 10.—(AP)—Wheat prices spiked sensationally upward five cents today, the limit for daily fluctuations, on the strength of aggressive commission house buying late in the session.

Heavy profit taking appeared after the sudden maximum price rise and a slight reaction occurred but renewed buying followed.

The maximum rise was in the

HOUSTON STEPS INTO FAST ONE WEDNESDAY EVE

His Complaint About Punch Board Ends in Fine of $5

Lee Houston of this city complained to Chief Van Bibber last evening that he had been victimized to the extent of $18 on a worthless punch board in a road house on the Lincoln Highway west of the city and was then locked up in the county jail on an intoxication charge when the complaint was referred to Sheriff Richardson. This led to the announcement by the sheriff this morning that every road house in the county would be visited and where punch boards are found, they will be seized and the proprietors prosecuted.

The sheriff stated that ample warning had been given and that prosecutions would follow where violations were found.

Houston told a story of having realized some cash on one punch board and when he spent $18 trying to win the capitol prize on a second board, he was informed that there was no prize. He seized the board and took it to the police station where he made his complaint.

As the offense was committed outside of the city limits, Chief Van Bibber called Sheriff Richardson who took Houston to the county jail. This morning Houston paid a fine of $5 and costs when arraigned on an intoxication charge in Police Magistrate A. E. Simonson's court but refused to prefer charges against the proprietor of the road house where the punch board was operated. The latter, however, was called to the State's Attorney's office for questioning.

LIQUOR CONTROL SESSION QUILTS SINE DIE TODAY

Action of Assembly Has No Effect on Third Session

Springfield, Ill., May 10.—(AP)—The second special legislative session today ended its action on liquor control and adjourned sine die.

The House approved a Senate proposal to end immediately the special session that opened last November 22, was deadlocked over liquor legislation for months and finally enacted the control act dividing regulatory authority between several state and local agencies.

The adjournment had no effect upon the third special session, which has been meeting concurrently since February and is now debating the state NRA bill.

Two of the second session bills were vetoed by the Governor. One permitted the sale of beer over bars. The other exempted industrial alcohol from the gallonage tax. Another bill, designed to comply with the Governor's wishes on the second question, was later passed by both houses.

Adjournment saw the death on the Senate calendar of the Powers proposal that whiskey in Illinois should be aged in wood four years.

Salesman's Slayer Faces Accusation of Murder in Coles

Charleson, Ill., May 10.—(AP)—The State's Attorney today said murder charges probably would be filed against Mrs. Ann Sandstrom, 38, Indianapolis, held in the Coles county jail for the slaying in a Mattoon hotel yesterday of Carl Thompson, 42, Indianapolis salesman.

Mrs. Sandstrom spent a restless night in the jail.

The inquest, said Coroner F. S. Schilling, probably will not be held until the first of next week. Plans are under way to recall the April grand jury.

ILLINOIS HOUSE VOTES PASSAGE OF STATE NRA

Five Republicans Desert Party to Support Governor

BULLETIN

Springfield, Ill., May 10.—(AP)—Republican Senators, after an hour's argument, today failed to place in the Journal a protest against the manner in which the state NRA bill was advanced to second reading after House passage yesterday.

Lieut. Gov. Thomas F. Donovan ruled against the objection on the ground that it did not come within dissent.

Although losing in the Senate, Republicans succeeded in placing

Collins and Allen Against State NRA; Devine Voted "Yes"

Representatives Henry Allen of Lyndon and Dennis J. Collins of DeKalb, Republicans from the 35th District, voted against passage of Governor Horner's NRA bill in the House yesterday; while John P. Devine of Dixon, Democrat, voted with the Governor.

In the House journal a protest against the manner in which the bill was passed. The Journal records can be used in case the validity of the measure is attacked in court.

Springfield, Ill., May 10.—(AP)—The Horner administration, aided by five Republicans, three of whom are "lame ducks," has broken the House deadlock over the NRA enforcement bill which has existed since April 18.

The five Republicans joined with 72 Democrats last yesterday to give the bill the 77 votes required to send it to the Senate where it has already been made a partisan issue such as had deadlocked the House.

Republicans who broke away from their party to vote for the bill were A. O. Galvin of Chicago.

WEALTHY CALIF. OIL MAN MADE SNATCH VICTIM

Seized as He Emerged from Pool at Midnight Outing

Los Angeles, May 10.—(AP)—Two masked men brandishing pistols snatched William F. Gettle, 47, wealthy oil man, from his newly purchased estate in the foothills district of Arcadia at a midnight party, declaring "this is a kidnapping."

James Wolfe, Westwood furniture dealer, was left bound and gagged and strapped to a tree on the estate. His wife freed him.

Gettle was abducted after a party of ten entertained at the estate by Mr. and Mrs. Gettle, who are residents of Beverly Hills, had left a swimming pool.

Had Stayed Behind

Eight members of the party entered the house, while Gettle and Wolfe stayed in the swimming pool. Gettle was in a small summer house to mail on trousers and shirts over their swimming suits. As they bent over they were startled by a voice, which exclaimed:

"Stick 'em up and be quick about it!"

They glanced up into the faces of two men and the muzzles of two pistols. Wolfe attempted to remonstrate but the men cut him short.

"No soft stuff," one snarled. "We're here for business. This is a kidnapping."

Mrs. Gettle, in delicate health, was prostrated and is under the care of a nurse.

Gettle, formerly manager of a chain store in Bakersfield, Calif., later engaged in oil operations there and became wealthy. He had purchased the estate about six months ago.

1934 TAX BILL SIGNED TODAY BY ROOSEVELT

To Add $417,000,000 to Nation's Yearly Revenues

Washington, May 10.—(AP)—President Roosevelt added an estimated $417,000,000 today to the nation's annual revenue by signing into law the 1934 tax bill.

The act increased tax levies already amounting to $3,250,000,000 by strengthening existing law against evasion and adding new sources of income.

Plucking loopholes disclosed by the Senate Banking committee to be available to the wealthy was Congress move in writing the new law. But before the bill went to the White House some rates were boosted and the income tax levies revamped.

The new law provides:

Heavier taxes on higher incomes, gifts, estate transfers, corporations and personal holding companies.

Partial income tax publicity.

Elimination of consolidated corporation returns.

Repeal of the 8 per cent normal tax on individual net income above $4,000 with surtaxes to start at $4,000 instead of $6,000.

A 3-cents a pound tax on Philippine coconut oil, the revenue to be returned to the island Treasury.

Experts estimated the full effect of the law will not be felt until 1935. They counted on only $167,000,000 by the end of the next fiscal year on June 30, 1935.

Proposes Memorial to Lincoln in Old State Arsenal Site

Springfield, Ill., May 10.—(AP)—Construction of an Abraham Lincoln memorial on the site of the old state arsenal, which burned last winter, was proposed today in a resolution adopted by the Senate.

The site is directly north of the State House. The new arsenal building would be erected east of the Capitol, across the street from the Supreme Court building.

State officials have not made definite plans for replacing the arsenal.

COOKING SCHOOL CONTINUES TALK OF DIXON WOMEN

Unusually Fine Demonstrations Given at Old Moose Hall

The cooking school held in the Moose hall proved to be the coolest place in town yesterday. While the rest of the town was sweltering the hundreds of ladies in attendance at the opening session of the three-day school were able to enjoy an afternoon of food facts and yet escape the almost unbearable heat.

The programs outlined and demonstrated by Miss Mary Egger, home economist in charge of this school, which is being sponsored by the Evening Telegraph and the Kelvinator Corporation, proved a valuable source of instruction and those who attended yesterday returned today with bulky notebooks anxious to retain her lectures on baking and cooking.

Not only did the women of Dixon find it an afternoon of worthwhile demonstrations but one of real pleasure as well, for Miss Egger made it an informal party and found a truly responsive audience. They visioned themselves in their own kitchens performing the same tasks as those going on on the stage and laughingly appreciated a chance blunder or near forgetfulness of some important recipe ingredient. There were "oh's" and

SECOND RANSOM NOTE IS GIVEN ROBLES FAMILY

Child and Abductors Believed to be Near Tucson

Tucson, Ariz., May 10.—(AP)—Search for the kidnapers of June Robles, six-year-old heiress, continued in Arizona today following receipt of a second ransom note which the victim's family considered as probably authentic.

Authorities believed delivery of the second note indicated the presence in or near here of one of the abductors in addition to the self-styled contact man now detained.

An airplane was pressed into service last night by Oliver White, chief criminal deputy of Santa Cruz county and two United States Customs Guards for a trip to Alo, Ariz., 120 miles west of here. They carried a shovel with them but declined to say why.

Earlier in the evening the three had made a secret motor car trip outside Nogales.

A search by Mexican authorities and cowboys in the wilds about Cananea, Sonora, for three persons, and a girl resembling the kidnap victim, led to belief the party had left that vicinity. The suspects, an American and a Mexican couple, were seen in Cananea a few hours before officers arrived to look for them.

The second ransom note was understood to have been accepted by the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fernando Robles, and her grandfather, Bernabe Robles, as assurance that she still was alive. It was said to have advised that plans for delivery of the $15,000 as contained in the original note were to be followed.

Insull Denied Reduction in Bonds by U. S. Judge; Next Move is Undecided

Takes Adverse Decision Calmly; Tells Son to Decide

BULLETIN

Chicago, May 10.—(AP)—Balked by a second Federal Judge in efforts to pry open jail doors for Samuel Insull's exit, counsel for the deposed financier determined today to raise the $250,000 bond and free him.

Federal Judge Will M. Sparks refused to intercede and lower the $200,000 federal bond set by another court Tuesday.

Floyd E. Thompson, representing Insull, three hours later announced he had begun to inspect the offers made by the 74-year-old prisoner's friends to schedule property as his bond.

Real estate valued between $500,000 and $1,000,000 must be tendered the government and the state in lieu of the $200,000 and $50,000 cash bonds fixed on the federal and county indictments.

"There will be no passing of the hat," Thompson reiterated, but he added: "It is up to Insull's friends to volunteer. They all know about it now."

Chicago, May 10.—(AP)—Samuel Insull today was refused a reduction of the $200,000 bond under which he is held prisoner in the Cook county jail.

Judge Will M. Sparks of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals said he felt the evidence did not entitle the 74-year-old defendant to any lowering of the bond which Insull's attorney, Floyd E. Thompson, asserted was the highest ever demanded of a defendant in any United States court.

Insull, lounging in a wheel chair at the Cook county jail, was not perturbed when Attorney Thompson and Insull's son, Samuel Junior, told him of the judge's decision.

Decision Up To Son

"You decide what to do," he said to his son, Young Insull, and the attorney then began a conference over raising the necessary $200,000.

Thompson had brought his plan before Judge Sparks in a petition for a habeas corpus writ. Insull himself remained in the county jail hospital, where he has rested since Judge John P. Barnes Tuesday fixed the bond on his charges of using the mails fraudulently and violating the bankruptcy act.

Forest A. Harness, Special Assistant Attorney General, told Judge Sparks the government would show that frauds involving one hundred million dollars were committed in the mail fraud case and that $2,000,000 was involved in the alleged mishandling of assets in anticipation of bankruptcy.

"The importance of these sums," Harness said, "entitles the government to assurance that Insull will be on hand for his trials."

Judge Sparks concluded the hearing with the remark:

"I do not see how any one could refuse you a hearing, but I am going to deny your application."

Without Property

Thompson, a former Chief Justice of the Illinois Supreme Court, had told Judge Sparks that the erstwhile multimillionaire was without property or funds and that to fix so great a sum for his bond was tantamount to denying him the right to bail.

Insull's son, Samuel, Jr., and his attorney had prepared to supply $100,000 bond if necessary, and said today they could raise the extra $50,000 the state demands on its indictments of embezzlement, but $200,000, they insisted, was beyond their power.

Nevertheless, refused any aid from Judge Sparks, Thompson said that two courses remain open. He may appeal the habeas corpus proceedings to the Circuit Court of Appeals, since Judge Sparks was sitting today as a judge of the District Court, or he may seek to raise more funds.

Slept Soundly

Apparently the new crisis gave Insull nothing but calm hope for he was sleeping soundly in jail early today.

"He must be all right," said German Jordan, Night Superintendent. "The guards tell me he's snoring and sound asleep."

Insull, who yesterday used 13-year-old George Rozalski, alleged kidnaper of a baby girl, as his errand boy, discussed his flight from America with the Herald and Examiner, which quoted him in a copyright article as saying he left the country for three reasons—fear of assassins, concern over his health, and because of his indictment during a political campaign.

"I knew," he was quoted as saying, "what could happen in a campaign highly charged with political intrigue."

MID-WEST CROP EXPERTS HAVE DARK OUTLOOK

Federal Forecast to Bear Out Pessimistic Predictions

Washington, May 10.—(AP)—A drought-shrunken crop report, forecasting the year's winter wheat crop at many million bushels below the 491,793,000 estimated a month ago, will be made public this afternoon by the Department of Agriculture.

Although the report itself was surrounded with the great secrecy, farm officials predicted openly that continued unfavorable weather in many parts of the country indicated severe crop damage.

Some went so far as to predict the report would rival those of such low years as 1930 and 1934. Others pointed out that it will show crop condition only as of May 1 and that damage apparently has become more severe within the past 10 days.

Chicago, May 10.—(AP)—Threatened by light rains last night, but not dispelled, the spring drought of the middle western grain belt was viewed today with grave concern by crop experts in many states.

Winter wheat, they agreed, was seriously affected by the absence of moisture, and some experts predicted that unless substantial moisture falls within a week the crop will produce as little as 25 per cent.

Oats was regarded by the experts as sharing the same fate as winter wheat, while most of them agreed chances for a good corn crop were bright, given an ordinary break on moisture.

Hay, however, is practically a loss, with farmers in many sections feeding from the mows and facing a serious shortage. Soy beans, a substitute for hay, can be planted successfully as late as the middle of June in some sections.

Tremendous Loss

Dr. T. A. Kisselbach, University of Nebraska Agronomist, said that in his state the winter wheat loss was tremendous, without question. The prospective yield, he said, declined from 45 bushels to the acre three weeks ago to 30 bushels now.

Crops in Missouri, without rain at all for the last 10 days and with but 50 per cent of normal moisture since April 1, are barely holding their own, with wheat in central sections suffering from chinch bugs.

Charles D. Reed, chief of the Iowa Weather and Crop Bureau, cheerfully said the only damage in his state so far has been to hay, which can be substituted for soy beans. He said oats and corn have suffered no "real" damage, and predicted a good corn crop if Iowa gets rain as late as the last of May. The entire southeastern section received rains last night, with the heaviest at Des Moines, half an inch.

Serious in Indiana

Indiana oats and grass and wheat will be "seriously damaged" unless there are rains soon, federal observers said, and Ohio State University scientists reported that "millions in crops will be endangered unless we get rain this week."

A terrific dust storm today provided a splendid ally of the drought and added a distinct threat to major crops, gardens and the water supply of the eastern central section.

Claude C. Chapman, Superintendent of Crop Fields of the University of Illinois, said he could not recall a season when April and early May were as dry as they have been this year.

"Not only has there been little rainfall," he said, "but what little moisture was in the soil has been dried out by winds and high temperatures."

He reported that "most of the corn planted in this state will not come up." Two-thirds is reported to be planted. He said that wheat and oats need rain badly "if there is to be anything like a normal crop." Clover fields and pastures are suffering he said and most gardens are at a "serious disadvantage."

Total rainfall for April was 2 inches below normal, and but a trace of moisture has been contributed this month to the normal average of 3.93 inches, he said.

Over Half of Corn on Illinois Farms in Sealed Cribs Under U. S. Loans Totalling $36,000,000

Springfield, Ill., May 10.—(AP)—Illinois farmers, placing more than half their corn under seal, received $36,000,000 in Federal loans, Assistant Director J. H. Lloyd of the State Department of Agriculture announced today.

Approximately 40,000 farmers took advantage of the emergency offer to loan 45 cents on each bushel of corn.

Lloyd said the total amount held in cribs is 68,000,000 bushels, more than half the amount on Illinois farms.

The AAA, he said, plans to expedite release of the sealed corn and payment of notes held by agencies of the commodity credit corporation. Borrowers are permitted to pay the loans by August 1 or to deliver the corn held as collateral to the government.

CLINTON TRUCK
DRIVER GIVEN
STIFF SENTENCE

60 Days In Jail And Fine of $150 to be Worked Out

Arthur Klinge, Clinton, Iowa, truck driver ended a picaresque life to an information charging him with the operation of a motor vehicle while in an intoxicated condition before Judge Leech in the county court this afternoon and was sentenced to serve 60 days at the state farm at Vandalia and was fined $150 and costs. The court ordered that Klinge work out the fine at a rate of $1.50 per day.

"Liquor has been legalized, it is true, but the driving of automobiles and trucks on public highways while under the influence has not been legalized. Insofar as I am able while county judge of this county, I will continue to wage war against drunken drivers, irrespective of what might be said in the way of criticism. But other than that, I am not going to apply to the courts but other cases of the kind. Judge Leech told Klinge, "There is nothing that I could say that would be appropriate in your case. You not only endangered lives on the highway, but you destroyed property."

Klinge appeared in the county court at 11:30 this morning and told Judge Leech that he had taken one drink in Chicago and two more at Gank Ellyn, but added that he was not intoxicated. He stated that he believed that he was suffering from the intense heat and fatigue from long hours of driving. The court continued the hearing until 1 o'clock this afternoon.

Albert Mess of Clinton, by whom Klinge was employed came to Dixon yesterday afternoon and arranged for the damages caused by Gank Ellyn, but added that he was not intoxicated. He stated that he believed that he was suffering from the intense heat and fatigue from long hours of driving. The court continued the hearing until 1 o'clock this afternoon.

NOTES

"Last Daze of School" a Most Enjoyable Play

"Last Daze of School" was presented last evening in I. O. O. F. hall to a large and enthusiastic audience. Each member of the cast assumed the character he was presenting in a most creditable manner. The leading role, that of the teacher, Miss Lily Fern Primrose, was played with much skill by Miss Marie Shippert. The costumes were in keeping with each part and amusing to say the least. The hearty applause indicated that the audience appreciated every part of the play.

Mrs. Lily Shippert accompanied in her novelty dance by Miss Irma Wiley made a decided hit and responded with an encore. The International Four, a quartette from Sterling delighted all with both their vocal and instrumental numbers. They were most generous with encore numbers and it is hoped by many that Dixon audiences will hear this splendid quartette again in the future.

A meat suit was realized for the charitable work of the Rebekah order. The committee in charge wish to thank everyone who contributed in any way to the success of the evening. They wish especially to thank the Public Supply Company for the programs and for their cooperation in unloading and advertising the play.

Alice Mock And
Chas. Sears Sing
In Dixon Friday

Alice Mock and Charles Sears, two noted concert singers, will be guest artists at the musicale for Phidian Art Club members and their invited guests Friday evening at Reynolds' home, at which time Mr. and Mrs. John G. Ralston will open their home. There will be two hundred guests.

Each of the sixty women who are members of the club will be privileged to invite a guest to this affair at which the distinguished guest musicians will present a joint concert with Miss Violet Mattens of Chicago as their accompanist.

Miss Mock, a noted soprano, formerly a member of the Chicago Civic Opera Company, and Mr. Sears, a tenor formerly with the American Opera company, will arrive in Dixon Friday noon and return on Saturday to Chicago but will remain over the week end as a guest at Reynolds' home. Miss Mock made her debut with the Chicago symphony at the World's Fair this summer.

It is an annual custom for Mrs.

Ralston to be hostess at a guest musicale for the Phidian Art Club members and their guests. She and her sister, Mrs. Pauline Reynolds Whitthorne of New York, both studied music abroad and have many friends among well known musicians.

The Phidian Art club, one of Dixon's most exclusive organizations, limits its membership to twenty. It meets fortnightly. It was organized in 1933 for the purpose of studying the art exhibits at the Columbian exposition in Chicago. Among its members is Mrs. Charles R. Walgreen of Dixon and Chicago.

Philharmonic Orchestra
To Participate
In Festival May 14

The Philharmonic Orchestra was organized in December, 1932 by Prof. S. R. Samuelson. Previous to this, Prof. Samuelson had conducted a string quartette in Dixon, which had been playing classical music for several years. That the time was ripe for such an orchestra was proven by the enthusiasm of the fourteen members who reported for the first rehearsal in December, 1932. During the next six months many hours of hard work were put in each week, with an ever increasing number of players, until they were ready for their first public performance. Their debut was on Sunday afternoon, June 18, at the auditorium in the Public Park. The splendid performance of the sixty-piece orchestra was a great surprise to music lovers in Dixon and vicinity. So interested were the members that they rehearsed twice a week all during the hot summer months and public concerts in July and September.

The year closed with a Christmas concert given December 27th at the Masonic Temple. During the year 1933 the orchestra has held six rehearsals at which the members have been most faithful in attendance.

The Dixon Philharmonic Orchestra is a self-supporting organization. Neither the director nor member is paid for his services. Each member bears his share of the expenses. All are glad to do this in order to foster music in the community and to insure an organization in which musicians may develop their talents under a capable conductor. In this orchestra the younger students have a chance to play with the most able musicians. It is splendid training for them, but it takes months of hard work. The following instruments are played at present: 12 first violins, 12 second violins, 4 violas, 4 cellos, 2 string basses, first and second flute, first and second oboe, first and second clarinet, first, second, third and fourth horn, first, second and third trumpet, first, second and third trombone and tuba, drums, tympani and bells, also a harp. The contribution of this orchestra to the music festival is eagerly anticipated by Dixon music lovers.

A SEVERE TEST—MET!

The Automobile Labor Board set up by the administration to handle labor troubles in the automotive industry seems to have passed its first big hurdle successfully. The strike of 8700 employees in the Fisher Body plant—a strike which occurred in one of the industry's "bottle-necks" and therefore had effects far outside the plant direct involved—has been settled, and a way of composing the differences between workers and managements is being found peaceably.

One hopes that this may be an omen for the board's future history. The automotive industry presents a labor problem which can be extraordinarily complex and difficult; the Auto Labor Board is an experiment, and many people have predicted from the first that it would not work out.

Now we find it meeting a severe test, and emerging with flying colors. For the sake of industrial peace and continued business revival, one hopes that it will have equally good luck in all future disputes that are referred to it.

MARY DAVIDSON, DEMOCRATIC EDITOR.

Mary Davidson, whose name stands out as the one democrat who voted against Governor Horner's bill to surrender the rights and powers of Illinois as a state to the federal government, is editor of a democratic newspaper at Carthage. She represents in the Illinois general assembly the "other half" of the Fourteenth congressional district, the counties of Hancock, Warren and McDonough.

This is not the first time she has stood apart from the state administration when Governor Horner seemed to be sponsoring something out of order. She was conspicuous in opposition to the Horner effort to displace H.L. Williamson as secretary of the Illinois Press association. She regarded the business of electing a secretary of the press association a matter for the association itself, and not an office to be dictated by the governor. She not only voted in opposition to the Horner project, but she stood up in front of two or three hundred other editors and in a modest way told them why she proposed so to vote.

On that occasion she was introduced as editor of the Carthage Republican, and upon inquiry as to how a democrat came to be editing the "Republican," she explained that this newspaper which has been in the Davidson family for generations, was instituted eighty years ago, when the party now labeled "democrat," was designated as "republican."

Miss Davidson's right to speak for the democratic party can hardly be questioned in these circumstances.—Moline Dispatch.

WHY SHOULD I?

"Why should I labor and economize and save?" a thrifty man inquires. "All my life I have tried to build business, to initiate enterprises, to live economically and to save a competency out of the proceeds of my initiative. I did without automobiles I wanted when others who could not afford them were buying them. I conducted my home affairs likewise.

"Now I am expected to look after my relatives who spent their money as fast as they made it. That isn't so bad. Perhaps one shouldn't complain about that. But beyond that I am taxed on every hand to provide for others who were having big times, enjoying life, depriving themselves of nothing, while I was economizing and saving.

"Wouldn't I have been just as well off if I had done as they did, if I had bought the automobiles I wanted when I wanted them, if I had spent my money as I made it, and looked to the taxpayers to take care of me now?"

This isn't published for the purpose of being critical of any one. We all got into this situation together and we all are going to come out of it together. It is published to show how initiative is dulled when it is penalized.

This is a fair sample of what socialism and communism do to the normal mind. It immediately produces the mental query, "Why should I do this and so if my reward is to be only the same as that of my neighbor who doesn't do it?"

Members explained that eventually that mental attitude dissolved the Amana community as a communistic enterprise, which, under its religious ties held together a long time.

Why should I risk my capital if the profits are to be taken away in large part? Why should I labor and battle with the elements and other organizations to promote enterprise if there is no profit for me or if the government steps in and takes it? Those are the questions that follow immediately when profit is taken away.

Washington will do well to take the homely illustration of human nature put forth by the citizen who asked, "Why should I?"

The Dixon Telegraph extends an invitation to everyone to attend the Cooking School. It will be well worth the effort. You will learn how to prepare many new dishes.

THE TWYMANITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The pie man watched the bunch a while and then he shouted, with a smile, "I think I'll run and get some more pies. These I have won't last."

"Why, we'll have had our share of fun," said Doty, "when we've eaten one. Perhaps you are misjudging us because we're eating fast."

"Oh, I'm not fretting 'bout you, miss," replied the man. "But look at this!" He pointed then to Simple Simon, adding, "What a sight."

"The lad has eaten four pies, now, and he wants more. I don't see how he manages to do it and continue feeling right."

"Well, gee, look at the size of him. I'm not surprised that he's in trim to eat lots more than we can," shouted Scouty. "Let him stuff."

"Run, get more pies. I'll gladly pay. He's going to have his fill today. We're going to feed fat Simple Simon till he yells enough."

In just a short time, Simon said, "I quit! I want to go to bed and snooze away my drowsiness. Gee, thanks, tots, for the treat."

And then he slowly trudged away. The Twymanites then heard Copy say, "Sleep tight, ol' Simple Simon, and may all your dreams be sweet."

Just then a lad came running by. He eyed the bunch and shouted, "I am quite a well-known scholar, and I'm on my way to school."

"Upon the school door I should knock not later, tots, than 10 o'clock. However, to leave new-found friends, is quite against my rule."

He opened up a large school book and said, "Inside we'll take a look. I'll show you that I'm pretty good at spelling, ere I'm done."

The Twymanites listened to him spell, and Goldy said, "He does real well. This seems just like a school room, and I think it's heaps of fun."

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

CHRISTIANITY AND PATRIOTISM

TEXT: Matt. 22:1-23:39.

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
(Editor of Advance.)

Human nature does not change through the years. It might be said that it does not change at all except as the grace of God transforms it and makes it better.

Here, in contact with Jesus, in our lesson, were certain people who made high profession of religion. They were Pharisees.

The word has become a sort of term of rebuke today, but the Pharisees were earnest, high-minded, very sincere people in the Jewish religion of that time, people of strict views and practices, so that one might almost speak of them much as one would speak of church members today.

Yet, here were these religious people in contact, if they had but known it, with the greatest teacher and the purest and noblest man of all ages, and all that they were concerned about was to entangle him in his talk.

Jesus was not easily entangled. Men of gentleness and goodness often show remarkable clarity and soundness of judgment. Jesus was a man of supreme wisdom, as He was a man of supreme goodness.

One of the vexed questions in a country subject to a foreign yoke was the attitude toward that foreign power. Should they pay a tribute or not?

The Pharisees knew that it was an entangling question among the Jewish patriots, and so they took occasion of it to catch Jesus.

How aptly Jesus replied to them. He called for a coin which bore the image of Caesar and, asking whose image and superscription it was, he received the only answer that they could give, "Caesar's."

It was then that He spoke those memorable words, "Render therefore unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's; and unto God the things that are God's."

He effectually silenced the Pharisees, but the words have a far deeper significance than either the Pharisees or the world have given them. They have been taken often to imply that Jesus was teaching the separation of Church and State, that we have some duties to Caesar and some duties to God.

That was not His teaching at all. He most certainly would have denied that there was anything that did not belong to God. But He was meeting these Pharisees upon their own ground.

Man's obligation to the state, his duty to his fellow men, are a part of his debt to God. The state might require him to do something that he believed to be wrong and in that case the sincere Christian would have to reply, as the early disciples replied, "We ought to obey God rather than man."

The second part of our lesson enforces this great truth. When a lawyer asked Jesus concerning the great commandment, also wishing to entangle him, Jesus answered with the great words concerning love to God and love to man as constituting the highest thing in life and the deepest obligation of religion.

The two parts of the lesson must be taken together. The latter gives fullness to the former and offers us the deepest teaching of Jesus concerning the heart of true religion.

Huey's Brother Enters Politics

All the political fame of the Long family won't rest with Huey if Oklahoma voters heed the plea of Dr. George Long, Tulsa dentist, brother of the Louisiana senator. Dr. Long, who bears a strong resemblance to Huey, as shown in this new picture, seeks the Democratic nomination as corporation commissioner.

Here's why—Luckies do not dry out
why—Luckies are All-Ways kind to your throat

The difference between cigarettes is the difference between what goes into them and how they are put together.

Luckies use only the clean, center leaves, for these are the mildest leaves—they taste better. That's why farmers are paid higher prices for them. And Luckies get the benefit of the famous process—"It's toasted"—for your throat protection.

And every Lucky is round, firm and fully packed. That's why Luckies "keep in condition"—that's why you'll find that Luckies do not dry out—an important point to every smoker.

Yes, Luckies are always in all-ways kind to your throat.

WASH OUT
15 MILES OF
KIDNEY TUBES

Win Back Pep...Vigor...Vitality

Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. They should pour out thru the bladder 3 pints of fluid a day which contains 4 pounds of waste matter.

If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount causing burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes need washing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of raging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and vitality, getting up nights, lumbago, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

If kidneys don't empty 3 pints every day and get rid of 4 pounds of waste matter, your body will take up these poisons causing serious trouble. It may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS.

... a doctor's prescription ... which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and help to wash out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes.

But don't take chances with strong drugs or so-called "kidney cures" that claim to fix you up in 15 minutes. Your common sense will tell you that this is impossible. Treatments of this nature may seriously injure and irritate delicate tissues. Insist on DOAN'S PILLS ... the old reliable relief that contain no "dope" or habit-forming drugs. Be sure you get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

MANY NEW MEAT CUTS ARE TO BE SHOWN ON FRIDAY

Expert From National Livestock Board at Moose Hall

Once upon a time there was a housewife who called up her butcher and asked for a quarter's worth of steak! No, this isn't the beginning of a fairy story. The facts of the case are that thousands of housewives throughout the country used to order their meat in a similar manner.

Today, it's much different! Housewives are learning their meat cuts. When they go to the telephone and call up their favorite meat merchant, the conversation is likely to be as follows: "Send me two pounds of Saratoga lamb chops. Oh, yes, and don't forget to save me a crown roast of pork for Sunday dinner."

Mr. Cullen, who comes to Dixon tomorrow on the program of the Kelvinator and Dixon Telegraph Cooking School, vouches for the statement that ten years ago the average housewife had never heard of more than a dozen cuts of meat and was familiar with less than six. There are now 101 cuts of meat to be exact, according to Mr. Cullen, and he ought to know for it is said, that his organization has had much to do with developing many of the new cuts and making them popular. There never was a time, he asserts, when the housewife had such a wide choice in roasts, chops, steaks, etc.

In his demonstrations here, Mr. Cullen will introduce many of the new cuts. Among other things he will stress what were formerly regarded as the less-demanded cuts. Recent studies have shown that these less-demanded cuts through proper cooking methods may be made just as tempting and appetizing as the more select cuts.

Up-to-the-minute facts as to the relation of meat to health will be stressed by Mr. Cullen. Meat will be revealed as a rich source of such necessary food elements as protein, iron, phosphorus, vitamins, calories, etc. He will bring out the value of liver and other meats in the diet of the small child. Those anxious to develop slimmer figures will be interested in this lecture pointing out the new revelations as to the value of meat in the reducing diet.

In addition to the demonstrations and lectures Mr. Cullen will discuss for the benefit of retailers, the methods for effective display, cutting tests and other subjects concerning the retail meat business. All meetings will be very informal and opportunity will be afforded for asking questions.

Riskulus a Sure Starter in Preakness on Saturday

Baltimore, May 10 —(AP)—Norman Church's Riskulus was listed today as a sure starter in the Preakness Saturday at Pimlico.

His trainer, E. L. Fitzgerald, notified the Maryland Jockey Club the Preakness candidate would arrive here from Churchill Downs today. Riskulus will be ridden by Bobby Jones.

Followers of the $25,000 Maryland racing classic today were interested in Belmont Park, where trainer Robert A. Smith planned to give Mrs. Dodge Sloane's Cavalcade and High Quest a final test.

On this test, Smith expected to make his decision whether the Kentucky Derby winner or High Quest would be shipped to the "Old Hill-top" for the mile and three-sixteenths feature of Saturday.

Wins Fiancee From Brother

Because Arthur Young, 23, worked days and had time for courting, he won Lucille May Tomes, 18, Lynchburg, Va., from his brother, Fay Young, 24, her fiance, who worked nights. The betrothed pair quarrelled, Arthur stepped in to rush his courtship in the evenings, and so he and Lucille went to the Los Angeles marriage license bureau, as shown here.

NRA SEEKS WAY OUT OF LITTLE BUSINESS MESS

Officials Tired of Efforts to Supervise Every Business

Washington, May 10—(AP)—An early abandonment of attempts to supervise every little business in the land was definitely indicated today at NRA.

Badgered and burdened with petty code differences, Hugh S. Johnson's chief aides are studying the ground for retreat along this line. In guarded utterances, officials admit a definite reaction against wholesale code writing and policing. They foresee some difficulty, however, in extricating themselves.

Almost unanimously they want to quit supervising strictly local service trades, such as pressing shops, barbers and bootblacks. An increasing number of officials want to junk complicated price maintenance and cost finding provisions which are giving trouble in many codes.

Two Obstacles
Two things, however, stand in the way: First, trade association groups which demanded and obtained codes so as to extend their influence over unorganized competition, are fighting hard to hold this ground.

Second, labor in miscellaneous trades, almost unable to organize and act in concert, is ready to object mightily at being left to fend for itself.

Officials believe the two obstacles may prevent doing what many would prefer, which is to tear up what some call the "nuisance" codes and forget them. They are therefore promoting the idea of letting all service establishments which want to comply with wage and hour terms so as to display the blue eagle, do so. Then, if the bulk of service establishments in anyone city insist on a local code, they have one. But the NRA will not urge it on them.

Nation's Typical High School Girl

America's typical high school girl is Treva Scott, Pasadena, Calif., above, if film judges can be believed. She has been chosen from 1000 contestants to play the lead in a Hollywood production and signed to a long-term contract. Treva was queen of the 1934 Tournament of Roses in her home city last New Year's Day.

sought to obtain the votes with which to pass the bill. Bederman and McCaskrin, who had been reached by telephone, did not arrive until late in the afternoon.

Acrimonious Session
The House session immediately developed into one of the most acrimonious on record.

Thomas Sinnett of Rock Island, the Democratic floor leader, moved that no further debate be had on the measure, saying "everything had been said on both sides that could be said."

The Republicans immediately objected, claiming Sinnett's motion was an attempt at "gag rule." Personalities flew back and forth, bitter debate was indulged in, and the Republicans staged several noisy demonstrations against rulings made by Speaker Arthur Roe before Sinnett's motion was finally declared adopted.

Prevented from further debate, the Republicans made the most of their opportunity to explain their votes on roll call. Many of them denounced the Democrats for shutting off debate, claiming it was the first time such a thing had ever been done in the House to their knowledge. Others spent their five minutes berating Republicans who had deserted the G. O. P. ranks.

Clinton Searle, Rock Island Republican, pointed at the empty chair of Mrs. Anna Wilmarth Ickes, wife of President Roosevelt's Secretary of the Interior.

"That empty seat," he said, "speaks more eloquently than words as to President Roosevelt's attitude on this measure. If the President were concerned Mrs. Ickes would be present."

Democrats, knowing their leaders had accounted for the 77 required votes and that the end of the deadlock was near, made no speeches.

High Point of Bitterness
The high point in the bitter session was reached when Richard J. Lyons, Mundellin Republican, took the Democrats to task and berated fellow Republicans who had joined with the administration forces.

"Efforts to pass this bill will go down in history as the Horner Follies of 1934 with the O'Briens, the Horans, and the Sullivans, now gathered on the Speaker's dais to see how you vote, in the position of the front line of the chorus," he said.

Lyons pointed to the absence of Patrick J. Nash, Democratic National Committee member, and Mayor Edward Kelly of Chicago from the ranks of party leaders present. "These two," he claimed, "no longer care whether you pass this bill or not. You are now doing the bidding of the lesser bosses."

"I am sorry," he said, "that my friend, Eddie Bederman, a Republican, was compelled to take a train from Chicago today and rush to Springfield to vote with the Democrats. I wonder, Mr. Bederman, if you or any of your family are identified with a hard road construction firm."

Bederman made no reply. Other speakers made mention of the "auction block roll calls" which Elmer Schnackenberg, Republican floor leader, has charged characterized the present legislature.

The bill is now in the Senate where Republicans, under the leadership of Earl B. Searcy, Springfield, caucus chairman, are determined to give it battle. Two Democrats, W. E. C. Clifford, Champaign, and James O. Monre, Collinsville, have already lined up with the minority but a Democratic majority, much larger proportionately than in the House, is expected to give the measure speedy passage.

Two Democrats Firm
Democrats mustered 72 of their 78 members behind the bill, Frank McClure, Abingdon, and Miss Mary Davidson, Carthage, voted against the bill. The other four were absent, two of them on account of illness. The Republican opposition mustered 46 votes, far short of the full Republican strength. Many Republicans, however, have not been attending the sessions of the past two weeks, remaining at home on the theory that absence had the same effect as a negative vote.

Toll of Explosion in St. Louis Grain Elevator Now Six

St. Louis, May 10—(AP)—Origin of a series of three sudden, violent grain dust explosions, which killed six employees of the Missouri Pacific elevator here Tuesday, remained undetermined today.

A coroner's jury, after a brief inquest, returned a verdict of accident, but did not fix the cause of the blasts.

Julius Mayer, vice president of the Continental Export Co., which leases the elevator from the Missouri Pacific Railroad, and other witnesses were agreed that a spark or flame set off the highly inflammable dust, but none was able to say what caused the flame.

BODY MUST BE KEPT DOWN IN IRON SHOTS

When playing an iron, from the Number one club to the niblick, it is necessary to stay down on the shot. That means that the left side of the body must not strain upward as the ball is hit. The left shoulder, left hand and the clubhead must remain down, and the weight of the body shifts with the stroke until most of it is carried by the left foot. This advice will be of great value if the player will remember it as he reaches the green. On short shots over a bunker the tendency is to look up more so than on the longer ones.

WHITE SOX WIN FIRST TILT FOR THEIR NEW BOSS

But Fifth Victory of the Season Still Left Them in Cellar

By HUGH S. FULLERTON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Judging by the first result, it appears possible that Jimmy Dykes, whose name seldom is mentioned without the adjective "peppery" being attached, is just what the doctor ordered for the Chicago White Sox.

The Chicago lineup has had a somewhat dangerous look all season with such clouters as Al Simmons, Mule Haas, Luke Appling and the flashy rookie, Zeke Bonura, but it was not until the first game after Lew Fonseca was ousted and Dykes installed as manager that the Sox turned in a really high class performance. Then, with Simmons still on the sidelines, they broke out with a 13 hit attack on three Washington pitchers while the ancient Milt Gaston hurled three hit ball and defeated the league champions, 8 to 1.

Still in Cellar

The triumph didn't even come near to hoisting Chicago out of the league cellar as the St. Louis Browns, after losing five in a row, turned on the league leading New York Yankees and blasted out a 9 to 8 triumph with a five run rally in the ninth. Even Babe Ruth's seventh homer of the season didn't halt the belting Browns.

Philadelphia and Boston, still tied, moved up a notch to make third place the subject of their argument as they defeated Cleveland and Detroit, respectively. The A's had to go ten innings for a 5 to 4 decision after O'Dell Hale clouted two home runs for the Indians. The Red Sox won in regular time when rookie Fritz Ostermueller turned in a great relief pitching job after taking the hill in the seventh with the bases loaded and none out.

Cubs Ahead Again

Chicago's Cubs went back into the National League lead when they came through with a 10 to 9 victory over Brooklyn while St. Louis handed the Giants a 4 to 0 blanking. Dizzy Dean was responsible for New York's first whitewashing of the season, holding the world champions to five hits and fanning seven. The Cubs and Dodgers loosed a blast of seven home runs, with Chicago piling up a big early lead on a 20-hit attack.

Pittsburgh's five-game winning streak came to a sudden end when young Curt Davis of the Phillies pitched his team to a 6 to 2 triumph. Davis stopped Gus Suhr's hitting streak after it had reached 17 games to duplicate one by Carl Reynolds of the Red Sox which ended Tuesday. Paul Waner, however, managed to keep going through his 16th straight game.

The Boston Braves had a hitting field day at the expense of Cincinnati pitching, all of them except pitcher Ed Brandt figuring in the 19-hit assault which brought a 10 to 3 victory.

QUIMET FACES PROBLEM IN A FOURSOME PAIR

May Split Goodman-Little Team to Bolster Weaker One

St. Andrews, Scotland, May 10—(AP)—With only one day to wait before they begin to learn the best, or worst, concerning this year's Walker Cup matches, the American team settled back today with only one problem immediately ahead.

That concerned the advisability of retaining the youngsters, Johnny Goodman and Lawson Little, as a pair to play in the Scotch foursomes. In their trials they scored a clean sweep, recording a medal round of 72 yesterday as they trounced Chandler Egan and Max Marston, 6 and 4. Their consistently brilliant play brought forth the suggestion that it might be better to split them up to play with a couple of others who have been weaker.

The tentative lineup calls for Captain Quimet to play with George T. Dunlap, Jr., and Gus Moreland to pair with Jack Westland, in addition to the Goodman-Little and Egan-Marston combinations.

The strength of the British hasn't been clearly demonstrated, although they have turned in a lot of good scores 75's or better, and Cyril Tolley and Roger Wethered duplicated the 72 of Goodman and Little in a practice foursome yesterday. On the whole, the British practice has been an informal affair and they didn't try a foursome drill until yesterday. The only indication of how the British team will line up came in that one match, when Tolley and Wethered defeated Sam McKinlay and Captain Michael Scott, 3 and 2.

Half of Corn Planted but Soil is Too Dry
for Growth

BULLETIN
Washington, May 10—(AP)—Secretary Wallace has declared that from present weather indications the 1934 production of wheat in the United States might be as low as 450,000,000 bushels, compared with the normal crop of more than 800,000,000.

In the interview, he said it was yet too early to estimate with any degree of accuracy what the crop would be, but that abnormal weather conditions might have a serious curtailing effect.

The Secretary apparently had informed the Weather Bureau to call him immediately "if it even looks like rain" in the midwest, where drought conditions were reported general from the Ohio valley west to the central and northern Great Plains.

In the meantime today's weekly weather and crop bulletin of the Weather Bureau declared that "abnormally warm and dry weather" prevailed over a large portion of the country.

Springfield, Ill. May 10—(AP)—The Weather Bureau's weekly report yesterday said that about half the corn has been planted but that scarcely any is up because of the generally serious drought in central and northern Illinois.

"Consequential showers occurred only in scattered localities, principally in the southern part of the state," said Meteorologist E. W. Holcomb.

"Precipitation for Illinois for the eleven months ending with April 30 averaged only 65 per cent of normal, and the moisture situation is serious generally over the central and northern divisions.

Soil Is Too Dry
"Corn planting was actively carried on during the week and probably an average of more than half the crop is in. The soil is too dry, however, for corn to germinate in many places and scarcely any is up.

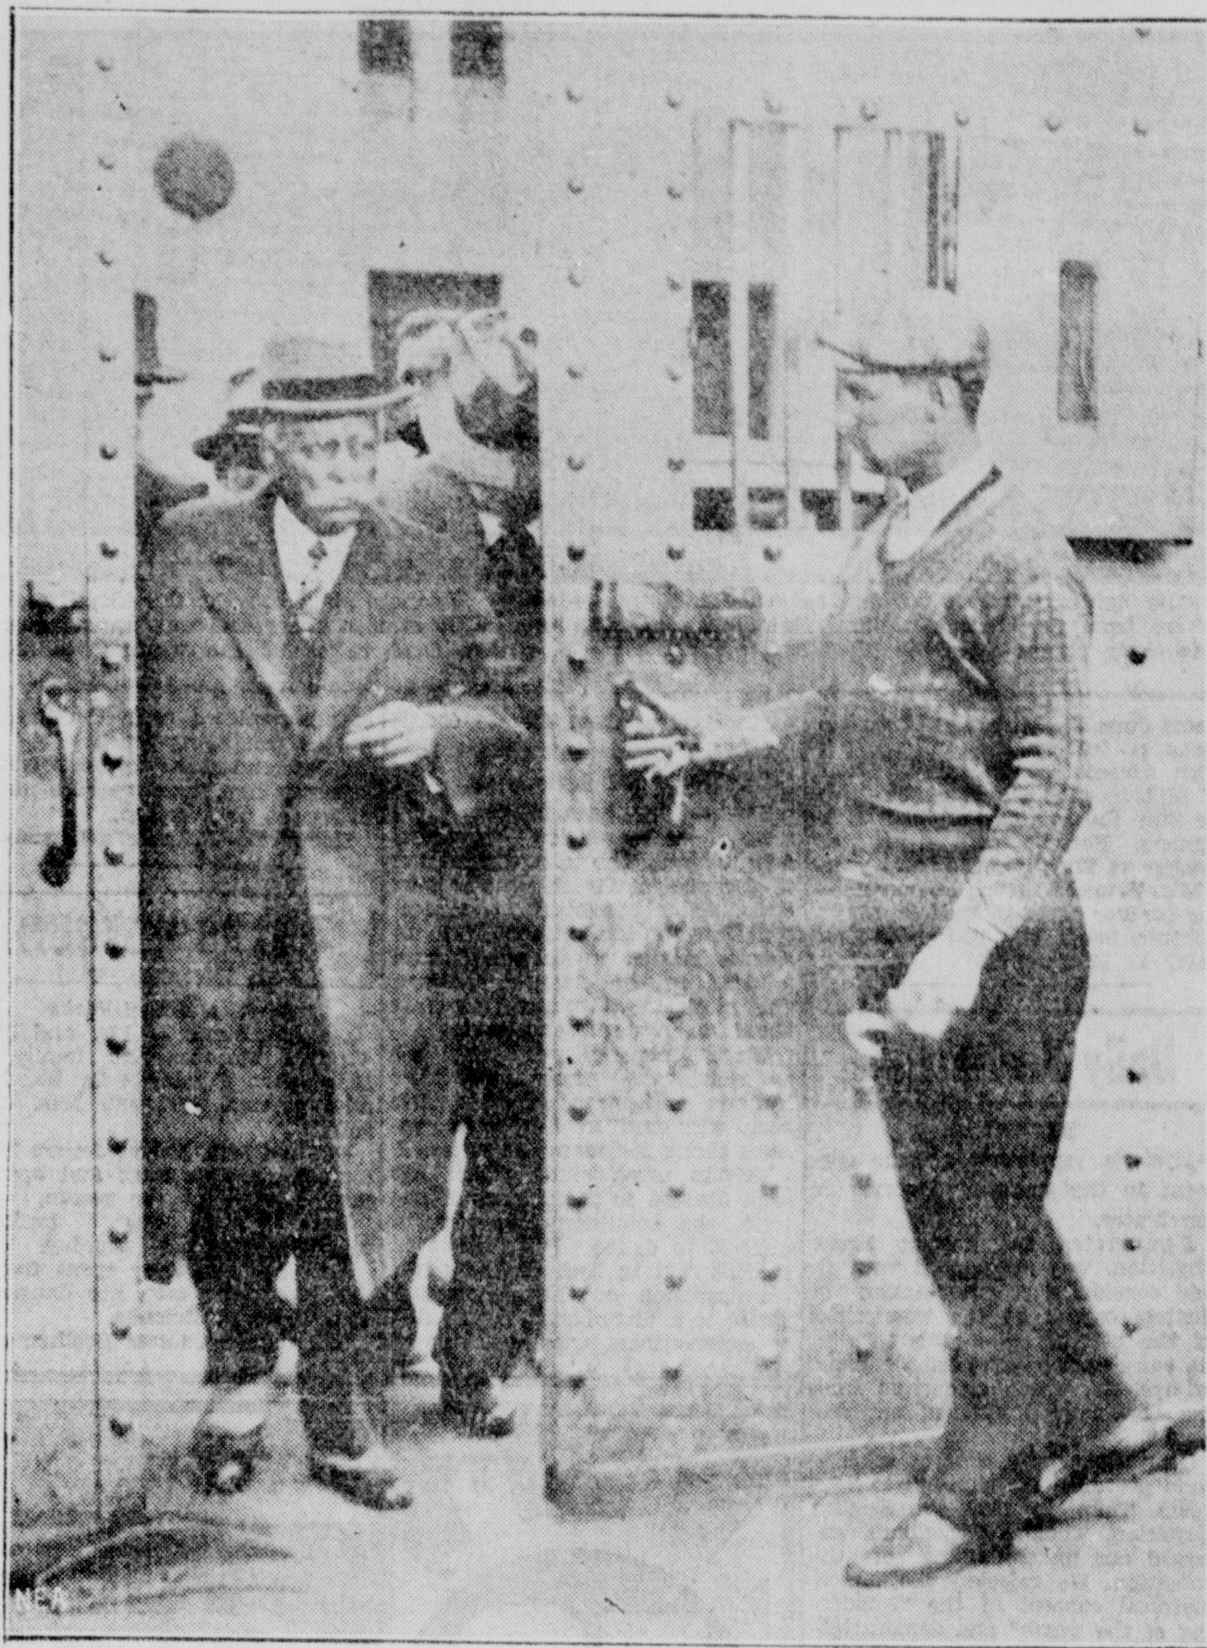

"There was considerable deterioration of winter wheat in the drier areas on lighter soils, but the crop is holding its condition remarkably well in view of the drought with many fields in good condition.

"Numerous complaints of chinch bugs flying in large numbers were received.

Oats Fair to Poor
"Spring wheat and oat condition and progress is variable, mostly fair to poor, and there is poor or slow germination of oats in the drier areas. Meadows and pastures are variable, mostly being extremely short. Potatoes and truck are generally making poor growth. Rye is heading in the southern portion of the state.

"Cotton in the extreme south is

Mr. Monkey is Boss

Contrary to common belief, the monkey is an ideal pet, although he is considered dirty both bodily and in habit. Bodily he may be kept as clean as the whitest white dog. In habit, he is not as bad as painted. The ability to imitate all but the speech of humans ranks the monkey interesting beyond all other animals. The monkey's natural life is happy. He seldom comes down to the ground, spending his time climbing from limb to limb and swinging on top of tall trees. Monkeys travel in troops, each headed by a male sultan who rules over his half-dozen or so females and their offspring with a blithe and snappy supremacy. Mr. Monkey is the boss. Mrs. Monkey is just one of his harem. If for any reason the chief is removed, another male moves in and takes over the throne.

"Back It Goes!"

SHE WON'T USE ANY EVAPORATED MILK BUT BORDEN'S!

"HERE'S A woman who knows what she wants! Try to get her to use any evaporated milk but Borden's! She admits she's awfully particular. But then, she has a reputation to maintain— isn't she known to all her friends for the deliciousness of her cooking?"

"And she's quick to tell you that in evaporated milk, there's nothing you can buy that's as creamy-rich, and as fresh in flavor as Borden's! For her coffee or her cooking, she'll have nothing but Borden's."

"There are women like her, all over the country. I know. Traveling, as I do, from one section to the other, lecturing and demonstrating and organizing cooking classes, I'm always running across housewives of this fastidious type."

"Right in your own community, I'll wager, there are plenty of such Borden fans. Just get one of them to tell you why Borden wins friends and keeps them. You'll want to try Borden's at once, when you hear what she says!"

"Yours, for better cooking,"

FLORENCE DAVIS, B. S.
INSTRUCTOR IN HOME ECONOMICS

Are you, too, one of the "particular" housewives of your community? Then, of all the evaporated milks your grocer carries, Borden's is the one for you. Try the three simple tests suggested here—they'll prove to you beyond a shadow of a doubt that Borden's is creamier, purer, fresher in flavor—a better evaporated milk.

Many housewives have asked us what makes such a difference—why Borden's has that finer flavor, body and color? The reason is this. Before a farm can supply milk to Borden, barns, equipment, milkers, cows—all are carefully inspected. And that inspection continues as long as that farm supplies milk to Borden. What is more, the milk is tested at the spic-and-span Borden plants—for quality, purity, freshness. Before milk can go into a can that bears the name Borden, it is subjected to the severest tests the milk industry has ever evolved. Borden's is fresh, quality milk, evaporated to creamy richness.

Tests prove Borden's better!

Try this: Open a can of Borden's Evaporated Milk. Note the creamy color—the smooth consistency—the pure, fresh flavor!

Try this: Have a cup of coffee with Borden's to "cream" it. Borden's blends in smoothly, tastes fresh and rich.

Try this: Make cream sauce with Borden's. That pure, fresh Borden flavor gives greatest deliciousness!

Borden's EVAPORATED MILK

It's better and you can prove it!

REOPENING OF DEBT TALK IS EXPECTED SOON

Conversations to be Undertaken With Great Britain

Washington, May 10.—(AP)—An expected early reopening of conversations with Great Britain gave promise today of a possible break in the war debts deadlock.

Now that President Roosevelt has opened the door for negotiations, State Department officials frankly anticipated an early call from Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British Ambassador.

Signs appeared both here and in London of a willingness to talk debts and there were definite indications that officials of both nations are feeling about for some formula that can be placed on the table.

Another sign of leaving in the debt mess was seen in calls yesterday by Andre de Laboulaye, French Ambassador, and Paul May, Belgian Ambassador, on William Phillips, undersecretary of State.

Seeks Explanation
Foreign Minister Barthou in Paris explained that Laboulaye had sought an explanation of the Johnson Act which prohibits nations in default to the United States from selling securities in this country. The Ambassador, Barthou said, wished to "keep posted to see if there is any possibility of a token payment."

France, openly in default, has never made a token payment and news that the Quai d'Orsay was even thinking of one was received by administration officials with high interest.

Laboulaye's visit was marked by the first State Department acknowledgment in many months that France's envoy had directly discussed the debt question.

May Tender Token
Diplomatic chiefs here displayed considerable interest in the reported reconsideration by the British cabinet of the previously intimated plan to tender another token in partial payment on the $570,765 due next month.

Czechoslovakia, Italy, Lithuania, and Latvia followed Great Britain's token lead last December and the belief was expressed in official circles here that an accord with Britain would go far toward insuring an agreement with those four nations.

CAN'T SEE PAYMENTS
London, May 10.—(AP)—The British press, commenting widely on President Roosevelt's declaration on the war debts, saw little likelihood today of Europe's paying the billions owed the United States.

The London Express flatly said: "Roosevelt may as well know that this country is paying no more war debts."

In his declaration, Roosevelt emphasized that the United States stands for collection of the debts, but will grant hearings to nations seeking reduced payments.

The London Times remarked that the British budget surplus "has revived all of the old fallacies."

Cites Difficulty
This newspaper asserted the real difficulty is not one of payment, but of transfer. Part of its argument was that "any endeavor to sell many millions of sterling credits for dollar credits—or even gold—would immediately produce a huge shift in sterling-dollar exchange, sending sterling down and dollars up. The chief sufferer in such a case," it was added, "would be the United States."

The Daily Telegraph said: "The United States will not take value in goods and the reverse laws of transfer forbid continued gold payments without ruinous results to commodity prices, which Roosevelt is striving to raise x x" to indicate a given disease condition, as a group of conditions with a common psychologic basis.

Hysteria has been intimately associated with religion, mysticism and folklore. The miraculous cures of the ancient Greek temples were undoubtedly hysterical in character. Many of the extraordinary incidents related in the chronicles of folklore, in the classical writings and in medieval miracle tales are based on hysteria experiences.

Large groups of people, as well as individuals, may suffer from hysteria and mass hysteria has been witnessed in Europe in various forms for many centuries.

Despite much study which has been devoted to the subject of hysteria, the condition still remains difficult to define. It is however evident that in hysteria there is a disintegration of the personality. There is a disturbance in the flow of consciousness, usually the result of stress placed upon the individual by conditions which he is unable and unwilling to face. Hysteria serves him therefore as a means of escape or a refuge.

Secretary Bird Kills Snakes
Snake flesh is a favorite article of diet of the secretary bird, of South and East Africa, which is very fearless in attacking even the more venomous varieties of reptiles. The bird, which stands some four feet high, stamps the life out of its victims with its powerful legs and feet. Its wings are thought to act as shields from the snake's poisonous fangs although the bird is remarkably agile in keeping out of the way of these.

Daily Health Talk

HYSTERIA
Hysteria represents a large segment in the specialty known as psychiatry.

Hippocrates, the ancient Greek physician, was acquainted with it, and considered it "a reaction of distress caused by the wanderings of the uterus." It is this idea of hysteria which gives us the name of hysteria, which is derived from the Greek word hystera, meaning womb.

The Hippocratic concept of hysteria prevailed for close on to 2,000 years. Then, in 1882, the English physician, Thomas Sydenham, enlarged our understanding of the condition. He rejected the almost mythical concept of the "wandering of the womb" and demonstrated that hysteria is a multifactor disease, variable in its manifestations and frequently mimicking other disease conditions.

Today, these features of hysteria are so well recognized that the term hysteria is used not so much

ROCKFORD CHIEF OF POLICE HAS GREAT RECORD

Bargren Has Completed
Forty Years of Service as Such

Rockford, Ill., May 10—(AP)—Looking down across 40 years as Police Chief, A. E. Bargren finds the job was "ridiculously simple" when he took charge four decades ago.

He has achieved a record of continuous service unequalled in any American city.

"When I became Chief the problems of the department were ridiculously simple compared to those of today," he recalled today.

"Letting a horse stand without hitching, or driving at a pace faster than a walk in downtown districts" were important traffic violations. Our crooks were professional thieves, proud of their accomplishments in many cases. Gun handouts were unknown, although sluggers occasionally used a blackjack.

Life More Even

"Back in the 'gay nineties,' when I became Chief after four years as a patrolman, life moved slower on a more even and more social plane than it does today."

"There was no automobiles to speed our murderers and thieves out of sight. Youngsters did not enter into lives of murder and crime in their teens, although this tendency did not develop until we reached the prohibition era. Few thugs, if any, carried firearms, while gang murders were unknown."

"Prohibition gave many criminals easy wealth and made possible crime developments which might otherwise never have appeared to plague the nation. The police of this country, I believe, must learn to fight its criminals with their own weapons."

Is Very Modern

Chief Bargren, although his police career started in another century, is thoroughly modern in his operation of the Rockford department. His squads tour the city in radio-equipped machines. The department armament includes machine guns, tear gas, and high-powered rifles. It has a fingerprint and photography department unsurpassed in any city of its size in the country.

Through the years crooks have learned to give the city a wide berth. Already in 1934 local officers have smashed one huge car theft ring, broken up two bandit gangs, arrested and cleared up activities of a dope ring, solved a gang murder and made several arrests of outstanding importance.

Living Our Everyday Lives

(By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton)

Hiram Golf was the village shoemaker, and the new minister who had come to town called upon him in his cobbler shop. As he prepared to go, the minister said,

"I am glad to see a man who can use the humblest vocation for the glory of God, as you are doing."

"Parson," said Hiram, "there ain't no such thing in the wide world as a humble vocation. You are on the wrong track, even if you are a minister, and what you say ain't orthodox. Now, you are a minister by the grace of God. Ain't that so?"

"I hope it's true, Hiram," said the minister, taken a little aback by so blunt a reply to his pious platitudes.

"No, parson," said Hiram, "you don't hope, you know, or else you will have to begin all over again. Well, I am a shoemaker by the grace of God. If I make good shoes I shall get just as much credit in the hereafter as you will (or being a faithful pastor).

"All work is noble and honorable," Hiram continued, "and it'll take a good deal of argument to show me that all work ain't equally important. You'll carry up to the Judgment Seat the sermons you've preached and I'll carry up a fair sample of the shoes I've made. Your sermons will settle your future, and my shoes will settle mine.

"Yes, parson, we shall rise or all according as the samples represent good work. You don't suppose do you, that the Lord's going to look at my shoes and tell me to go way back and sit down, as if I were mighty lucky to get in at all, being just a shoemaker?"

"Oh, no, parson," Hiram concluded, "that's the difference between the Lord and us folks. If your sermon is good and my shoes are good, He'll say, 'John and Hiram, you've used your talents about equally well. Go up there and sit on the front seat, side by side, and join in the music.'"

And the parson went away, meditating on the truth that all service ranks the same with the Master of all good work.

Prosecutor Estill of Dillinger Fame Defeated at Polls

Hammond, Ind. May 10—(AP)—Prosecutor Robert G. Estill of Lake county, whose picture taken with desperado John Dillinger caused nationwide comment, today conceded victory in the Democratic primaries to his opponent, State Senator Fred A. Egan of Gary.

On the basis of early returns, Estill was running far behind and his managers announced that so far as he was concerned the race was over.

HOW WOMEN CAN WIN MEN AND MEN WIN

The Favor of Other Men

Unless two pints of bile flow daily from your liver into your bowels, your food decays in your bowels. This poisons your whole body. Movements get hard and constipated. You get yellow tongue, yellow skin, pimples, dull eyes, bad breath, bad taste, gas, distaste, headache. You have become an ugly-looking, foul-smelling, sour-thinking person. You have lost your personal charm. Everybody wants to run from you.

But don't take salts, mineral waters, pills, laxative pills, laxative candies or chewing gum and expect them to get rid of this poison that decays your personal charm. They can't do it for they only move out the tail end of your bowels and that doesn't take away enough of the decayed poison. Constipation won't help at all. Only a free flow of your bile will stop this decay poison in your bowels. The one mild vegetable medicine which starts a free flow of your bile juice is Carter's Little Liver Pills. No calomel (mercury) in Carter's. Only fine, mild vegetable extracts. If you would bring back your personal charm to win men, start taking Carter's Little Liver Pills according to directions today. 24¢ at drug stores. Refuse "something just as good," for it may gripe, loosen teeth or scald rectum. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name and get what you ask for. © 1933, C.M.C.O.

WHALES!

LITTLE AMERICA, ANTARCTICA, April 30—(via Mackay Radio). Life goes along with us, smoothly but busily. Outdoors it is night-time and we don't stray into it any more than we have to. I am beginning to get accustomed to this night life—24 hours a day.

Practically all the men are keeping diaries, some of which will later be turned into books, I suppose. So far there has been very little literary effort. We've all been too busy. In fact, we haven't had time to listen to more than a few radio programs, most of which reach us by way of New Zealand or Australia.

We are still digging tunnels. This is simple but back-breaking. We dig a trench seven feet deep in the snow, line each side with boxes of food or supplies and roof the whole thing over with big blocks of hard

Dr. Thomas C. snow. In a few

Poultier, our Com-hours or days the mander Pro Tem, entire tunnel is covered many feet deep with snow-drift. This house of George No-ville's where I live is now completely buried. This snow, especially on the surface, is so fine and dry that it can sneak through the tiniest openings. If a hole two inches in diameter is made in a tunnel, the entire tunnel will be blocked up in twelve hours.

We are all alone here on the ice. All the penguins, seals and gulls have left us, for heaven only knows where. Even the whales have gone from the Bay of Whales, where there were hundreds of them a month ago. George No-ville swears he is going to catch one next October and is laying deep plans for this personal conquest of his.

They tell me whale meat is very fine eating, black but tender and amazingly nourishing. I'll probably know all about this when we capture a few next time the sun visits us. Unfortunately, however, the best whales to eat are the blue whales for which I have a great feeling of sympathy on account of the meanness with which they are treated by the killer whales. Killer whales! There's a beastie for you!

In my opinion this is the cruelest animal in the world. They are smaller than the other whales by many tons, running only up to around 40 feet from pointed nose to flapping tail. But they are so ferocious that the big whales, on which they prey, haven't a chance. Their pet habit is to attack the big whale, eat out his tongue and set him adrift to die miserably. Coming through the Ross Sea on the Jacob Ruppert, I saw an enormous blue whale jump clear out of the water with three killer whales attached to him.

On the way down I had a long talk about whales with Commander Gertsen, commodore of the Expedition, who has navigated these waters more than any man alive, having traversed the Antarctic ice-pack five times in each direction since his first trip down here in 1911 with Amundsen, discoverer of the South Pole. He told me about the enormous steel whaling ships, mostly Norwegian, and called "Whaling factories," which come to, and sometimes through, the Ross ice pack and capture from 700 to 900 whales each in a single season. I thought this was a shame and told the Commander that the whales must soon be exterminated at this rate.

"No," he said. "They will never be exterminated. There are countless thousands of them in the waters around the Antarctic continent and the whaling ships cover only a tiny fraction of these waters."

"It costs about $1,500,000 to outfit one of these expeditions and if the average catch goes down to around 400 whales the expeditions will lose money and will be abandoned. Expeditions with smaller ships can never make serious inroads on the huge numbers of whales in this region."

Then, whaling factories are tremendous steel ships with great openings in the bows through which the whales are hauled. They smell awful. The actual whaling is done with small, powerful fast motor boats, called "chasers," usually five to a factory. Every scrap of a whale is used. There is no waste whatever.

And now the Boy Scouts are joining our club. Well! I wish every Scout in America would join because I'm sure our activities will be of great interest to all of them.

The latest troops to enroll in a body, I learn from the Club by radio, are those of the Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans Home at Xenia, Ohio, and the troop at Rig by, Idaho, the latter with 195 scouts. To date 156 school and college classes have enrolled and each member has received the blue membership card and the beautiful 20% by 27 inch working map of Antarctica all without cost, and the teachers and Scout Masters should give home addresses of pupils or troop members and enclose 3c stamp for each. Others desiring to join this fast growing national organization, without charge, should send clearly self-addressed, stamped envelope to C. A. Abele, Jr., President, Hotel Lexington, 48th Street and Lexington Avenue New York City.

Accused in Paris As German Spy

Suspected as a spy, Tjadina Oterentorp, above, was arrested in Paris, another prisoner in the sweeping roundup to smash espionage rings which the French claim are operating on a gigantic scale. Miss Oterentorp had $35,000 in her possession to buy military secrets for Germany, police allege.

BILL TILDEN IS PROBABLY GRINNING UP SLEEVE

U.S. L.T.A. Adopting Suggestion He Advanced in 1933

New York, May 10—(AP)—In its determination to produce a winning Davis Cup team this year, the United States Lawn Tennis Association has cast aside another tradition and, incidentally has given Bill Tilden a few good reasons to smile in a satisfied way.

Dropping the old idea that Davis Cup preparations should be strictly the affair of the team members, their captain and the guiding committee, the association has engaged Hans Nusslein, German professional who won the "world's championship" at Berlin last fall to play with the team members during their preparatory sessions at the Merion Cricket Club.

In announcing the appointment, Captain R. Norris Williams emphasized the fact that Nusslein is not to be a "coach" or to direct tactics but merely will play against members of the squad to sharpen their games. He added that it was hoped some of the leading American pros might also be secured for practice from time to time.

Last summer when Tilden advocated professional opponents for the players when they were in Europe and offered his services and those of other members of his "troupe," the offer was firmly declined.

Allenru is a safe, sure and speedy-acting liquid—the first dose you take starts to remove the cause of your pain—often in 48 hours you are ready for work again, yet there isn't one drop of any narcotic or opiate in it.

This is a fair and square offer we make to you—an offer no broad-minded man or woman who suffers can afford to ignore—why not get back to work—Adv.

Marry Hepburn? He Won't Tell

If Leland Hayward is on his way to wed Katharine Hepburn, he won't tell. The manager and reported fiancé of the famed film actress refused to confirm or deny the rumor as he sparred with interviewers when he changed planes in Chicago en route to New York, as shown here. And Katharine says she has no such idea.

"ah's" each time a dish was completed, and there was much oral concentration on a favorite, for Miss Egger presented the beautifully garnished platters to a few fortunate women in the audience for their dinner tables last evening. Those foods prepared today and tomorrow will also be given in the same manner.

Miss Egger demonstrated the quick and easy preparation of graham cracker ice cream, tip top, made from a gelatine base, golden salad and frozen cocktail, all of which were completed in the Kelvinator while she prepared the other dishes of an informal supper menu.

The wholesome liverloaf was perhaps the favorite of the group yesterday judging from the disappointment when it was awarded. This was an attractive molded loaf covered with browned bacon strips equally suitable for use as a hot dish or sliced for sandwiches. An other meat dish prepared on the stage and roasted was the pressed meat loaf. This had previously been molded in the refrigerator and then turned onto baking sheet for the oven. The standing rib roast was a beautiful creation when it was shown in the parade of foods. To top off these dishes Miss Egger baked a pan of bran muffins and it was evident that she needed no clock on the stage to time them for the hungry audience reminded her every few minutes, just in case they burn and spoil some local timeliness of enjoyment of them for their dinner last evening.

K. A. Adams, field supervisor of the Kelvinator corporation, presented the attractive platter among the audience and also the numerous baskets donated by the local and national advertisers. These local merchants have contributed materially to the success of the entire cooking school. Each has helped prepare a basket overflowing with staple articles for the housewife's kitchen. A large number were awarded yesterday and many more will be given this afternoon and tomorrow afternoon.

Sunday Night Supper
 This afternoon Miss Egger prepared the foods from the following menu, suitable for a Sunday night supper:

Assorted Canapés
 Rainbow Sandwich Loaf
 Crown Roast of Lamb
 Plate Roll Deluxe Salmon Loaf
 Toasted Whole Wheat Bread
 Frozen Egg Nog or Cheese Cake
 Merry Go Round Cake
 Cranberry Punch
 Sugar Wafers
 Each day programs are distributed at the school. These contain the coupons on which must be written the slogans to be eligible for entrance in the Kelvinator contest. Local judges will select the prize slogan tomorrow and the winner will be given a 1934 Kelvinator, the gift of the Evening Telegraph. Prize winners in the recipe contest will also be announced at the close of the school.

Feeling Her

An Atchison maid overheard her mistress say: "I can always tell when the maid has dusted the pictures, because after they are dusted she leaves them hanging crooked." So now the maid, instead of dusting the pictures, gives them a little push, making them hang crooked. She says it saves a lot of time, and her mistress believes the pictures are dusted—Atchison Globe.

DONNA of the BIG TOP by BEULAH POYNTER

©1934 NEA SERVICE INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
 DONNA GABRIEL and MADELINE SIDDAL who call themselves "The Gabriel Sisters" are circus performers. Years earlier Madeline ran away from her grandfather's home.

When Donna is injured in a fall from the trapeze Madeline arranges for her to be taken to GRANDFATHER SIDDAL'S farm. To please her partner Donna pretends to be Madeline. Donna falls in love with BILL PLANTER, Madeline's cousin. She is ashamed of deceiving grandfather and Bill but continues to pretend to be the other girl.

Meanwhile CON DAVID, circus animal trainer, believing Donna is lost to him, asks Madeline to marry him. The marriage takes place in the circus arena. BILL PLANTER, son of the housekeeper at the Sidal farm, sends a handkerchief describing the wedding to his mother.

NED TRAFFORD, boss circusman with whom Madeline had flirted, leaves the circus.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XIII

WHETHER it was because Mrs. Planter complained of the amount of work she had to do or whether Bill wanted to avoid being alone with Donna the girl did not know, but the following day a sturdy, freckle-faced youngster from a neighboring farm walked unannounced, into Donna's room.

"I'm Minnie Jones," the new comer said. "Bill Sidal says as how you can't lift yourself out of your bed and that I was to help you."

Minnie was strong and, in spite of her awkward appearance, very capable. Donna could not but one fault with the girl and that was Minnie's incessant chattering.

From the time Donna was introduced in the wheel chair until she returned to her bed she was obliged to listen to a flow of conversation that ranged from the number of eggs Pat Jones's buff coons produced to the sale of the land rendered from hogs Minnie had raised herself.

But the girl was so tireless and always ready to push the heavy chair along country lanes over ruts and rocks, always anxious to do anything to break the monotony of Donna's inactivity that Donna would have become genuinely fond of her if Minnie's presence had not practically banished Bill.

He disappeared before Donna breakfasted. Offener than not he ate his mid-day meal in the fields in the evening, though they all sat together at the table. Bill rarely joined in the conversation. He would sit eating in silence with a brooding look in his dark eyes that made the girl who loved him wretchedly unhappy.

SEVERAL evenings after the coming of Minnie he strode off down the road with no explanation for his departure and Donna felt with a sinking of her spirits, that he was going to Mattie Blake.

The third time he left before evening prayer Grandfather Sidal commented upon it. "Bill's not himself these days. Wonder if anything is troubling him?"

"He seems cheerful," Donna said. "Not to me he doesn't! I can't see, but God has given me another kind of eyesight and I always know when those I love are in trouble. Maybe everything isn't just right with the live stock." "Perhaps," Donna laughed from aloofly. "He has had a quarrel with his sweetheart."

"Sweetheart? Bill hasn't got a sweetheart."

"There you're wrong, Grandpa. He has."

"How do you know so much about it? Has he been telling you secrets he's kept from me?"

She smiled at the twinge of jealousy in his old voice. "What about Mattie Blake?"

"My land! You gave me a turn. Why, Bill and Mattie haven't been courting for months. Not since—"

His withered lips closed suddenly.

"Don't you like her, Grandpa?" "What makes you think I don't?" he evaded.

"Perhaps I have intuition too."

"Oh, Mattie's all right, I reckon, but I know a heap of girls I'd rather see Bill marry. He's a fine boy, Bill is, and deserves the best wife there is. There's not a mean nor selfish bone in Bill's body."

When I think of how he gave up his schooling to come out here with me—

"When your own grandchild—"

Donna interrupted.

"I shouldn't have said that. You're making me mighty happy now, Maddy. Mighty happy I'm beginning to dread the days when you have to go back."

"MAYBE," she mused, "I'll never go back—not if you want me to stay."

"Maddy! You mean that?"

"Yes. Only you may find you will be glad to be rid of me. I'm not always a very nice person. I'm selfish at all."

There was a little choke in her voice that did not escape the old man. He rose and crossed to the wheel chair with the faltering footsteps of the blind his sensitive fingers touched her cheeks, smoothed her hair. Then he bent and kissed her forehead.

"You're my little girl, my aw-aw-aw Maddy. All the love that I had to give to three sons is now yours. When you left me something went out of my life. Young folks have new friends and amusements and a future to look forward to, but we old ones have only those we love, and we haven't the capacity for loving new persons."

Our own kin grows dearer with years. No matter what you are or did I would want you. I felt kind of bitter at first. Then when darkness brought a clearer vision I understood. Strange, my voice trembled, "how much understanding we afflicted ones are given."

Sometimes I feel that I have been blessed in losing my eyesight."

Donna reached up, took his hand and pressed it against her damp cheek. "How wonderful you are. And to think—"

Almost she had said words that must never be spoken.

Grandfather was dozing in his arm chair on the porch and she was sitting motionless in the darkness when Bill returned.

"I didn't want to wake him," Donna said in a whisper when the young man threw away his cigaret and joined her.

"Where is Mrs. Planter? Neither of you should be out here at this hour."

"She said something about visiting a friend. But I didn't want to go to bed. The night is so lovely. I've been sitting here watching the stars and the fireflies and thinking how peaceful it is."

"Bill," she leaned forward, "why are you acting this way towards me? What have I done? Are you angry at something?"

"Good Lord, no! Of course not!" "You were so kind at first. Then you changed—you act almost as if you disliked me. For a week now I've felt that I could walk if the splints were removed but you haven't done it. For come near me—"

"I'm not a doctor, Madeline. I've had a little training, but I'll send for—"

"How ridiculous!" she interrupted. "You don't want to touch me—that's all. Ever since the day you brought me the wheel chair you've avoided me. Why?"

"What are you trying to do—get temperamental? I haven't avoided you. I've been busy. Harvesting takes all a man's time. I'm short of hands and there's been so much rain—I haven't meant to neglect you. I thought you understood. I should have remembered that you are a star performer and used to all kinds of attention."

"How unkind to say that!" "And I didn't mean it. It was a rotten thing to say! I think you are the loveliest thing God ever made and I've been trying to convince myself that everything will be just the same when you go back to the circus. But I know it won't be. I know this place will be as drab as a morgue and that what was endurable before will be hell then." His voice was thick with bitterness.

"But if I don't go back?" "Of course you will! What is there here for you? Spending a few weeks during the summer when you're laid up with a broken leg is quite different from staying here the year round. No one who has known applause and fame as you have could be satisfied in a place like this."

"I'm not going back. I promised Grandfather tonight."

"You shouldn't have made a promise you know you'll break."

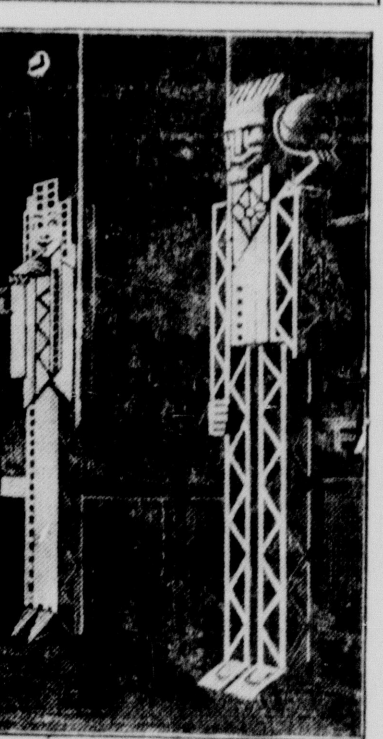

"You don't want me to stay?" "Of course I don't."

Grandfather Sidal stirred and mumbled. "Reckon it's about time for bed, Maddy." Bill sprang to his feet and assisted him into the house. He came back to help Donna but she waved him aside and manipulated the chair herself.

The next day a doctor from Lebanon removed the splints and she took a few steps, but Bill was not present.

COMPTON NEWS

By LESLIE ARCHER

Compton—Henry M. Chaon purchased the meat market building and equipment, having completed the deal late last week. He has leased the business to O. N. Daw who started Monday afternoon in dispensing meat after a lapse of nearly two months without a shop here. Mr. Daw, formerly a business man of this place, and well acquainted throughout the community, comes here from Lee Center where he has made his home with his family for the past few years being employed by Shinner at Rochelle. Mr. and Mrs. Daw will commute back and forth to Compton from their home in Lee Center until fall when they will move here to take up their residence. The newly managed meat market will be furnished with meats by Herman Roesler of Paw Paw.

H. M. Chaon and his three sons, Arthur, Cletus and Wellington will attend a Royal Blue meeting at the Faust Hotel in Rockford on Thursday of this week.

Obituary
Mrs. Edith Cheney Bradshaw, daughter of James and Carrie Johnson Cheney, was born in Chicago on August 27, 1867 and departed this life on April 30, 1934 at her home in Compton. When she was five years of age her parents moved to West Brooklyn where she resided until she was 12 years old. Her mother died at this time and she went to the home of her uncle, J. P. Johnson, where she remained until she was united in marriage to Lewis E. Bradshaw on October 14, 1890. They have made their home in Compton all their married life. To this union two children were born, Lucille and Rex who both survive her.

Edith Bradshaw was a very devoted member of Juanita Chapter No. 391 of the Order of the Eastern Star of Compton, being Past Worthy Matron of this Chapter. She was a truly wonderful woman with her cheerful and sunny disposition and a kind word for all. She was a good wife and a devoted mother, who gladly sacrificed her all for those that were near and dear to her. Although she was sorely tried by physical afflictions during the later years of her life her spirit was always the same. She will be greatly missed by her sorrowing husband and children as well as other relatives and a host of friends. She is not dead. She is just away. With a cheery smile. And a wave of the hand. She has wandered. Into an unknown land. And left us dreaming. How very fair it needs must be. Since she lingers there.

The annual commencement exercises of the rural schools in this vicinity will be held in the Compton high school auditorium on Tuesday, May 15 at 8 o'clock. Following is the list of graduates and their teachers: Margaret Schnuckel, Harold Schmitt, Valeria Mahaffey, Amanda Florschuetz, Frances Bauer, Bernice Arjes, Marjorie Newenham, Edgar Kehm, Gladys Politich, Margie Gardner, Florence Bresson, Frieda Zinke, Irene Bauer.

The Compton baseball team got off to a good start in the Illinois State league race, by winning the opening game with Lee Center there Sunday afternoon by a score of 11 to 1. The day was ideal for baseball, with the entire team playing ball throughout as was evidenced by the pitching ability of A. Chaon and Prestegard, allowing three hits together, as well as the twelve hits collected by the bats of Compton off A. Dunseth. A Chaon showed remarkable improvement in his pitching, which was augmented with Henry on the receiving end. Prestegard took over the assignment at the pitching position in the sixth and made short work of the game by striking out nine of the thirteen Lee Center players. First homers of the season came in the fourth, when Herman lifted a low fly into the right field garden for the first home run. This was followed by Henry with a first base line drive into the stately cottonwoods.

Manager Webber used all available material Sunday by sending A. Chaon to first, when Prestegard took over his position. Knauer to center, B. Archer to left, C. Chaon to right, W. Chaon to short, retiring Montavon and Herman.

Herman, who has been showing remarkable form in every angle of the game will leave for midweek for Springfield for a try-out in the league.

Herman, who has been showing remarkable form in every angle of the game will leave for midweek for Springfield for a try-out in the league.

Next Sunday afternoon, May 13, the Compton baseball team got off to a good start in the Illinois State league race, by winning the opening game with Lee Center there Sunday afternoon by a score of 11 to 1. The day was ideal for baseball, with the entire team playing ball throughout as was evidenced by the pitching ability of A. Chaon and Prestegard, allowing three hits together, as well as the twelve hits collected by the bats of Compton off A. Dunseth. A Chaon showed remarkable improvement in his pitching, which was augmented with Henry on the receiving end. Prestegard took over the assignment at the pitching position in the sixth and made short work of the game by striking out nine of the thirteen Lee Center players. First homers of the season came in the fourth, when Herman lifted a low fly into the right field garden for the first home run. This was followed by Henry with a first base line drive into the stately cottonwoods.
